Using the Index	i
Subject Index	1
Author Index	201
Regional Index	221
Journal Index	228

Using the index

This index is the first of the new-style indexes and represents a departure from that which subscribers are used to searching for International Development Abstracts. While the journal and author indexes are straightforward alphabetical listings, for the first time a separate regional index is included, and the subject index has been radically restructured.

Subject Index

In the new style index, a single string of keywords is provided for each abstract. Each element of the keyword string has a separate entry in the index, and appears with the other elements of the string followed by any regional terms from the abstract. The number immediately following is the reference number for the abstract. For example, the string: energy crisis, coal, industrialisation, export, Colombia; 02365 will appear as:

coal
industrialisation, export, energy crisis, Colombia; 02365.

energy crisis
coal, industrialisation, export, Colombia; 02365.

export
energy crisis, coal, industrialisation, Colombia; 02365.

industrialisation
export, energy crisis, coal, Colombia; 02365.

Where the first keyword is repeated entries are blocked and sorted in alphabetical order by the second keyword. For example:

AIDS
epidemic, disease, Uganda; 02521. epidemiologic pattern, heterosexual transmission, WHO, Africa; 02502. food production, Africa; 02503 etc.

We hope that this system will be both simpler to use and easier on the eye than the previous index. All the index terms are chosen by the editor, so a reasonable degree of consistency can be expected. Please note that English spelling variants have been used throughout (mechanisation; labour;) and that wherever possible the terms are indexed in the singular - except in cases where to do so would change the meaning of the term.

Regional Index

Although regional index terms are integrated within the subject index to give context to the keyword string, there is now also a separate regional index. This operates on a hierarchy system. Under each country (or broader regional term where appropriate) the terms are progressively indented to the right, to indicate increasing specificity, and the string is only complete when an abstract reference number appears. For example:

China, Jiangsu Province, Nantong County:

would appear thus:

China
  Jiangsu Province
    Nantong County 010101

Another County name in the same Province (e.g. Shandong County) would appear at the same level of indentation:

China
  Jiangsu Province
    Nantong County 010101
    Shandong County 010102

Author Index

Each author is indexed separately from co-authors, each entry being followed by one or more abstract reference numbers. Please remember to check for listings under various possible combinations of initials.
For example:

Singh, J. P. 03308
Singh, J. 03125
may or may not refer to the same individual.

Remember that in cases where there are more than six authors, we list the first one cited followed by '& others', so only the first author will appear in the index.
Although in general only the last name is indexed as the surname, in certain cases each separate element of a surname will have an entry. These are:

where surnames contain prefixes; e.g. Van, De where Latin surnames contain both parental names; e.g. M. D. Garcia Lopez where Chinese and some Indo-Chinese names are used; e.g. Hyung Chun Wu

If in doubt, check all possibilities.

GEOBASE®

THE GEO ABSTRACTS DATABASE

Its not just Geography!

GEOBASE is a unique and invaluable online information source offering convenient access to the international literature on geography, geology, ecology and related disciplines.

GEOBASE provides a truly interdisciplinary service across language and cultural boundaries. Subjects covered include cartography, climatology, ecology, economic geography and geology, geomorphology, geophysics, hydrology, palaeontology, planning, stratigraphy and tectonics.

GEOBASE contains over 350,000 records dating from 1980 onwards, and over 40,000 are added annually in monthly updates. Each record includes an informative abstract as well as a bibliographic citation. Items for inclusion in the database are selected from over 2000 scientific and technical journals, as well as from books, reports, monographs and theses.

GEOBASE is currently available on the Dialog service as file 292. During 1990 the file will be loaded on the Maxwell Orbit Infoline service. Access to these services is available through most libraries.
